

In 1941, Lemburg bought a lower Woodward Ave. cocktail lounge, sold out two years later to begin construction of 10 super markets, nine apartment buildings and a score of private homes. Detroit was growing—and here, again was opportunity.

His present holdings under a dozen companies bearing his name, include vast holdings in the Florida Keys and a large tract in South Miami to be developed for low-cost housing.

Clipped By:

jmarkow1

Thu, Dec 5, 2019